

WHAT WILL YOUR Legacy BE?

The J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College Educational Foundation helps the College raise funds from the community, freeing the College to do what it does best—teach focused, ambitious students.

To acknowledge the community's support of the College through planned giving, the Foundation has created the Legacy Society.

The Legacy Society of J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College encourages all who support the College's mission to use their financial and estate planning to help the College create opportunity for all.

Begun in 2002, the Legacy Society honors all those who have made a planned gift to the College, or informed the College of their gift through a bequest, designation of a retirement plan or life insurance policy, life income gift, or other method of deferred giving.

The alumni, faculty, and volunteers listed below are leading the way to Reynolds' future.

Please join us as we work to provide J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College with the resources to educate the deserving students of tomorrow. For more information, call Bess Littlefield at (804)523-5181 or email blittlefield@reynolds.edu.

PLANNED GIVING

Maximize your giving through a planned gift to the JSRCC Educational Foundation for College initiatives that matter most to you. Just ask Mary Ballou Reynolds Ballentine. Mary Ballou said she believes the community college plays a fundamental role in expanding economic opportunity for all individuals. One of her favorite programs is Middle College, located in Jackson Ward at the Downtown Campus. Middle College gives former high school dropouts a second chance at improving lives for themselves and their families through a fast track to GED completion, workforce preparation, and college enrollment.

I have spent the last ten years as an active volunteer and supporter of this wonderful institution. The reason is much more important than the obvious connection with my late husband, Sarge Reynolds.

As a longtime Richmond resident, community college believer, and member of the Legacy Society at the College, I take pride in knowing that I'm doing my part to make Richmond a better place for my grandchildren. I want them to know that 'Grandma Boo' cares about their future!

~ Mary Ballou Reynolds Ballentine

The following information may be helpful as you consider how to support Reynolds and also benefit from the tax advantages associated with charitable giving. All gifts go to the JSRCC Educational Foundation, Inc., a 501(c)(3) organization. The simplest and most common form of a planned gift is designating the College in one's will for a specific sum or percentage of the estate. A variety of other instruments are available:

▶ Charitable Gift Annuities With a charitable gift annuity, you make a contribution of cash or appreciated securities in return for a fixed annual payment backed by the assets of the College. In return for your gift, Reynolds will make payment to you, and/or another person you choose, for life. Part of the payment is treated as return of principal every year and is tax-free. In addition, you receive a charitable income tax deduction in the year in which the gift annuity is established, which can be carried over for five more years, if necessary. Upon the death of the annuitant and any other payment beneficiary, the assets are used by the College, according to your specifications. You may choose to have payments begin immediately or defer them for a period of years.

- ▶ Life Insurance Naming J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College as a beneficiary of a term life insurance policy will provide a gift at your death. Giving a policy with cash value provides an immediate gift.
- ▶ Retirement Plan Designation There may be estate tax advantages to designating the College as a beneficiary of the remainder of one's retirement plan.
- ▶ Real Estate You may gift a residence—and continue to live there as long as you want—or other real property to J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College and receive tax benefits allowable by law.
- ▶ Tangible Personal Property Valuable artwork or other tangible personal property is a way to make a gift. For these types of gifts, the donor obtains an appraisal in order to take advantage of allowable tax deductions.
